Decay heat is the heat released as a result of radioactive decay. This heat is produced as an effect of radiation on materials: the energy of the alpha, beta or gamma radiation is converted into the thermal movement of atoms.. Decay heat occurs naturally from decay of long-lived radioisotopes that are primordially present from the Earth's formation.

A quantity is subject to exponential decay if it decreases at a rate proportional to its current value. Symbolically, this process can be expressed by the following differential equation, where N is the quantity and λ (lambda) is a positive rate called the exponential decay constant: $\dot{N} = -\lambda N$. The solution to this equation (see derivation below) is: $N = N_0 e^{-\lambda t}$,
